

Tiptoe Around to Foot Health

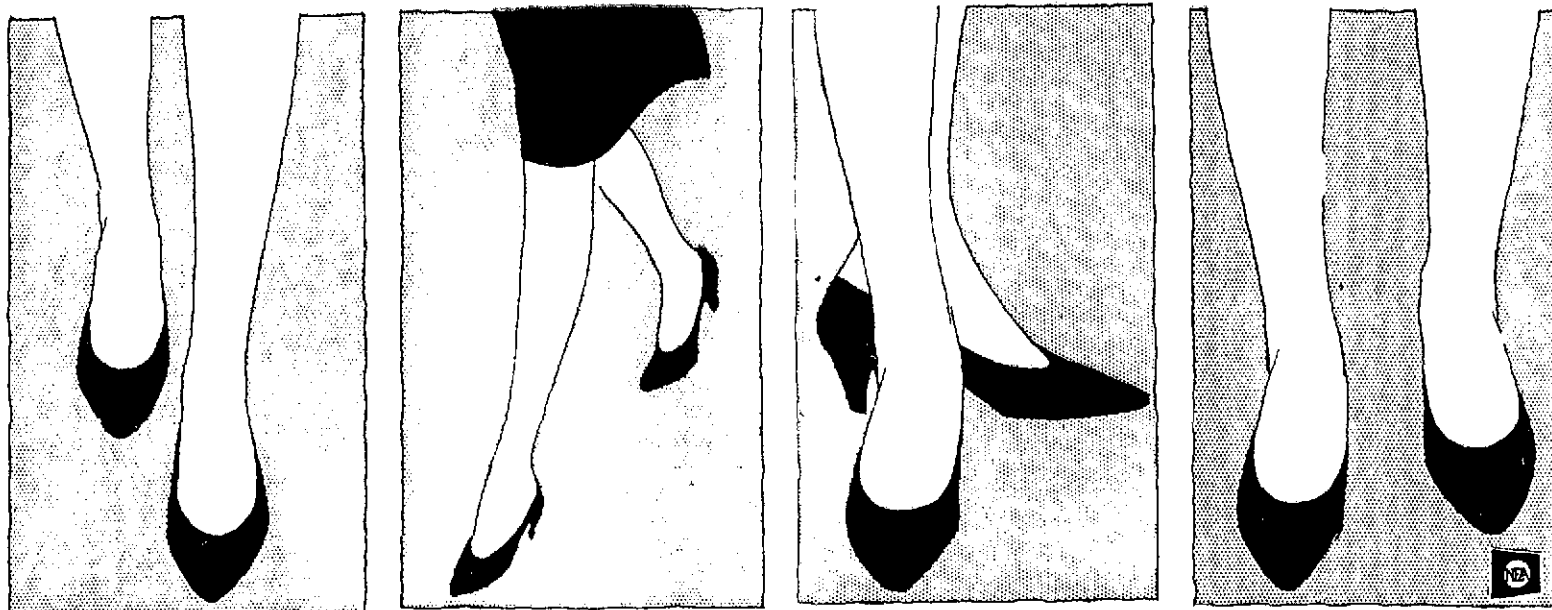

by Alicia Hart, Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

A team of doctors recently said a woman's wiggle when she walks is unnecessary. And they even have research to prove it. However, the way a woman walks is vital to her over-all health, whether she glides like a model or favors the style made famous by the late Marilyn Monroe.

Walking and standing properly help avoid many foot, leg and back disorders that seem to afflict so many. Poor walking habits can be corrected. Below are some tips on walking and standing by a foot authority (Dr. William M. Scholl). Also included are foot exercises to combat fatigue and strengthen feet and ankles. Here are some classic foot exercises to do around the house:

- Walk around tiptoe on bare feet and stretch up.
- In bare feet, pick up marbles or a pencil with the toes.
- After bathing, stand on the end of a bath towel and rake in the rest of it with the toes.

In walking keep toes straight ahead. As you take each step and put your foot down, weight should come down on the heel and then the ball of the foot. Push off from the toes. Avoid a jarring, flat-footed step.

Try to develop a walking rhythm, with springy steps and then go at it with a steady, easy pace. When walking on an upgrade or upstairs, take two short breaths, then forcibly expel. You'll tire less quickly.

Stand properly. Point one foot forward toward the person to whom you are talking. Bring the other foot behind it at a 45-degree angle with the heel of the foot in front against the instep of the one in back. Rest weight on ball of back foot.

To stand comfortably for long periods, stand with toes pointed straight ahead and with feet two to four inches apart. Always select shoes with comfortable heel height, with snug heel and instep and half-inch longer than your foot.

Pick New Fabrics Now for Summer Clothes

by Mary Brooks Picken, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

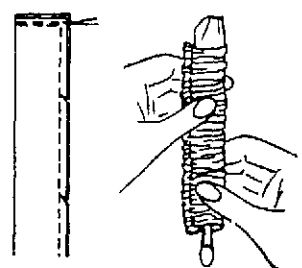

Anyone who sews will delight in the new fabrics available now for summer.

There are sheer wools, bonded lace and jersey, wrinkle-proof linens, cotton and cotton blends in a riot of beautiful colors.

Mrs. Picken

Now, while the selection is large and time still plentiful, why not buy several lengths of material and start on your summer wardrobe.

A half-dozen lengths of fabric should be sufficient. Many are wide enough so that full lengths, plus hem, should be figured when the fabric is narrow, say 36 inches.

The shift shown can have a belt, can have fitted darts, can hang loose. The fullness can be gathered with elastic thread at the waistline. Some like a 1 1/4-inch casing stitched to the waistline, on the wrong side, so fullness may be drawn up just as you want it. If you have a very small waist, you may prefer this casing.

The faced boat neck is flattering. This can be cut high as shown or as low as is becoming to you. The colorful necklaces and long earrings for summer seem to encourage lower necklines.

A few designers are leaving the shoulder seams open, finished with fitted facings, then closed with three to five buttons, using loops or button-holes.

Many shifts have pockets in the side seams and these are cut the shape of a man's trouser pocket, inconspicuous but convenient.

The stole has never been more popular than now. If you use a stripe, cut the stole on a true bias a la Pauline Trigere. Most stoles are double, all seams turned to the inside.

To make a tie belt (see illustration). Fold right side in. Bring the two raw edges together on the long side of the strip and stitch, making a scant 1/4-inch seam. Then stitch twice across one narrow end—to hold end securely while strap is being turned.

BAT GIRLS—Not the feminine interest on a television program, but newcomers to the baseball field. Southern Illinois University baseball coach Joe Lutz, former St. Louis Browns' first baseman, is surrounded by coeds who answered a call to lend active support to the school's team by serving as bat girls. They are expected to boost morale in the dugout and attendance at games.

Clip raw edges every three or four inches. Press seam open its full length. This is a very little thing, but it insures an even edge when the strap is turned. Place end of orange stick against stitched end and with your fingers crowd the strap down the stick to turn it right side out, as shown. Clip the stitched end off, turn the open ends in, slip stitch the ends, then press strap with seam to one edge.

Don't Wear Earrings, Too

Sunglasses with ornamental frames are attention-getters. Don't wear them with earrings that also glitter or people will see your trappings and overlook YOU.

Ideal Time for Small Furs

Spring is the ideal time to wear small furs. If you have a fur stole or small cape, wear it with a feminine flair. Don't clutch it as though you were afraid of losing it. Let it fall softly about your shoulders.

Pastels for Pretty Lips

A coast-to-coast survey of lipstick colors selected by women shows those over 45 tend to cling to one shade, often one of the first they wore. Lipstick shades take many forms and latest fashion look for lips is the ultraluculent, iridescent shades in a variety of pastel tones complement young women's freshness and spice up the older woman's make-up when worn over her basic shade. Whatever the color, select it to co-ordinate with hair color and skin tone.

If you have dark circles under your eyes, white out the circles before applying other make-up. You can do this with a pure white underbase.

A Time for Backbone

by Mrs. Muriel Lawrence, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My 4 1/2-year-old boy is very stubborn. As I have nobody to leave him with while I go shopping, I have to take him with me. The problem is he wants something in every store we go into. Even in a drugstore he runs to a candy rack and won't leave until I buy him some. It is no use to explain that he has candy, toys, pencils, cake and other things at home. He doesn't listen but just says over and over, "Buy it for me, buy it..."

LAWRENCE: He doesn't want all this stuff he asks for. What he wants is to know how much power he has to make you give it to him.

In children, as in grownups who've been allowed to dominate us, there is always a underlying suspicion of their power to control us. It's this suspicion that not only makes them so stubbornly insistent but defies them to all our excuses. Thus, if we tell a dominating mother-in-law that we can't come to dinner because a garage is overhauling the car, she promptly says, "Then we'll come by and get you." In the same way a dominating little son will say, "I want THIS candy," in response to our explanation that he has candy at home.

Neither our mother-in-law nor our little boy has really heard our excuses, being too concentrated on testing their power to get submission from us to be able to hear them. It's never that they are so hungry for the candy or our dinner companionship. What they're hungry for is the knowledge of whether their wants are still so powerful that they can sweep our opposing wants out of existence.

They suffer, you see, from an insatiable need to prove that the control they've been allowed to accumulate is still in effective operation.

So we have to stop telling them why we "can't" do what they want—and instead, begin to say, "I don't WANT to buy you that candy" or "We don't WANT to come to dinner tonight." And end all the excusing explanations.

I know of no parental exercise so beneficial to everyone involved as learning to say to children, "I don't want to do that."

That's because the happier, the gayer we are with this simple declaration of an opposing want to children, the happier they become with wants which oppose ours.

Lode Is Richer On Far Hills

BY DICK KLEINER, Hollywood Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—James Mason was in town for a few days—but not just to work.

"I'm just here to visit my children and see some old friends," Mason said.

He made Hollywood his home for 16 years, but now is a Swiss resident. ("Not for tax reasons, but because it is a very nice place to live.") He says that Hollywood no longer makes very interesting pictures, either to see or to act in.

"Entertainment here these days," he says, "is purely an industry and the guiding principle isn't whether the picture will be good, but whether it will make money."

So he does things like "Georgy Girl" in London and "The Blue Max" in Ireland and "The Player Piano" in Spain. And Hollywood sees him only socially. It's a shame.

ANOTHER WHO WORKS more out of the country than in these days is George Montgomery. In the past few years, he's written, produced, directed and starred in four pictures he shot in the Philippines—"The Iron Claw," "Samar," "From Hell to Borneo" and "Guerrillas in Pink Lace." And he's thinking about doing others in Mexico and/or Yugoslavia.

Why always away from Hollywood? "I can't afford to make pictures here," he says.

Montgomery puts up his own money to finance his films, and he says he can shoot three times as long for half the cost, outside of Hollywood.

As an example, he says he had to shoot a storm sequence in the Philippines. He hired an old airplane to furnish the wind and rented the local fire department for an afternoon to pump up some rain. The whole thing cost $1,000—and I figure it would have cost $100,000 for a good Hollywood storm.

NOTABLES' QUOTABLES

"Success hasn't changed my standard of living—it's just enabled me to be arrogant about turning down parts"—Robert Vaughan.

"Canadian television is so much better than that in the United States. The programs here are dished up very beautifully—the chocolates may not be so good, but the quality of the cellophane is impeccable."—Barry Morse.

"The one thing about being a star that bothers me is being used, being patronized, by people who think they are pulling the wool over your eyes."—Troy Donahue.

"When I work in the theater, I don't go to bed until after two in the morning. Now, on a television series, I am out cold by 8:30 p.m."—Eva Gabor.

PHILIP ABBOTT SAYS the old myth that New York is much more stimulating than Hollywood is just that—an old myth.

"I've been much more creative here in the four years I've been here," he says, "than I ever was in New York."

He has the ideal job to be creative—on the side. He plays assistant FBI director Arthur Ward on "The FBI," and the most he ever works is three days a week, usually only one or two. So he has a lot of free time.

He put together a stage show, "Promises to Keep," taken from Robert Frost's works, which ran successfully here at UCLA and he has hopes of further productions of this. And he's doing the same thing with the works of another American author.

The success of Batman will, of course, spawn imitators, but there will also be spoofs. First one to hit the pilot film stage is Mr. Terrific, with Alan Young and Edward Andrews.

Young's working outfit in this is a pink plush bunny suit. Well, it makes just as much sense as a black cape and a mask and a matching brat.

Far East Designs in Ski Togs

by Helen Hennessy, Women's Editor, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA)—Mt. Zao, a ski resort three hours from Tokyo, is considered one of the most beautiful skiing spots in the world. So it isn't surprising that Japan, long famous in our ready-to-wear market, successfully adopts fashions to the ski slopes.

A collection of these interesting fashions was presented for the first time in the United States at the Japan Ski Fair in New York City.

The ski-ables range from brocades to polyesters and everything is weather-finished for authenticity in action. Underneath are turtle-necks of the right weight knit for action. And there is a bright red, great shag of a sweater with its own attached fringed hood. Worn on a clear day it could be seen forever.

If the snow decides to fall as you reach the summit, there's a handy self-pak of parka that hooks to your belt to be whipped out for fast protection.

When silk is used in ski jackets it is printed with delicate swirls of color.

To keep the ears from frothing there is a snappy collection of headgear. Helmet shapes, kerchiefs, tams and the traditional headbands are included. There are knit surprises too in cuffs and collars attached to parkas.

Stretch ski pants in sleek fitting accommodation to girl watching are in ample supply. Some boast professional strip ing with a hint of Olympic feeling.

All told it's a pretty and practical group of ski togs.

Youths Fear Losing Family and Security

By WICK TEMPLE
WEBSTER GROVES, Mo. (AP)—The 16-year-olds in this typical upper middle-class suburb are engaged in an "Academic ulcer derby," poring over their books mainly because they see a dollar sign on every page, a sociologist says.

Dr. Arthur Barron with the University of Chicago conducted a six-month survey of all the 16-year-olds in Webster Groves — 688 of them. He said they are "too good for their own good" and that they have an overriding fear of losing their families' financial security.

Barron says the youngsters in the St. Louis suburb are typical of 16-year-olds in well-to-do areas which have achieved "the American dream of affluence and security." But he says they are paying "a terrible price because of the enormous pressure on them for good grades and success in later life."

"We were staggered to learn how much the pressure of getting into college bears on them," Barron said.

The study showed that 54 per cent said they had cheated on exams, indicating the pressure that was on them to get good grades, he said, noting that 86 per cent of the 16-year-olds had signed an honor code not to cheat and to report any cheating. Most are high school juniors.

The results of Barron's survey, which began last September, will be used by CBS-TV Friday night in a special network program.

Barron presented the results yielded by his questionnaires and interviews to school officials, teachers and students Wednesday.

The president of the student body agreed that the analysis of his schoolmates was accurate.

Barron reported that the main goal in life for 77 per cent of the 16-year-olds he studied is "a good-paying job, money, success." In virtually every category of the study, knowledge is considered at best a by-product of education, only vaguely necessary for success in life.

When asked what worried them most, the majority listed good grades. But when asked what went into the makeup of a campus leader, scholarship ranked last.

And when asked what is essential to success in adult life, the pupils ranked "getting along with people first and intelligence last, even below compromising your principles."

"I fear that genuine intellectuality is being lost in the shuffle," Barron told the school administrators, "despite some of the most remarkable teachers I have ever seen."

The materialism of the youngsters, Barron said, is due to "pressure to achieve a 'grades ticket' to the kind of life their parents want for them."

Barron contends that the general concept of the teen-ager does not apply to the Webster Groves 16-year-olds. He said they are not rebellious very few have been in trouble, homework takes by far the greatest amount of their out-of-school time, and they have very conventional attitudes about drinking and sex.

"These are good kids," he said, "committed to the values of middle-class society, oriented to success, materialistic, but faintly anti-intellectual."

"And they're living for the future," Barron said. "There is very little idealism. They think happiness is a big house, two cars and a lot of money."

The study was made in Webster Groves, which has a population of 30,000 because Barron and the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center felt it to be typical of the upper middle-class suburb which is becoming so numerous in this country.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) —Salesmen from the three major networks are busily peddling next season's shows in tentative entertainment schedules to Madison Avenue. Hints of all sorts of change are, as usual, leaking out.

For instance, Andy Williams' current sponsor expects to put a Western in Williams' current spot. NBC, which likes the variety show, is currently trying to persuade the singing star to move his show in the difficult hour period Sunday night after "Bonanza."

CBS' "Perry Mason," it now appears, is almost certain to disappear, and Garry Moore and his new variety hour will challenge the perennial giant of the ratings, "Bonanza."

Among shows which may disappear are "The Munsters" and "My Favorite Martian" on CBS, both excursions into comedy-fantasy. But the expected demise of these plus the new "The Smothers Brothers Show," do not mean that comedy-fantasy is dead: ABC's "Bewitched" and NBC's "I Dream of Jeanie" are still coming on strong. And, of course, there's always "Batman."

"Laredo" appears to be a casualty after a season, and so does "The Legend of Jesse James," but all the older Westerns seem to be good for another season and some new ones are penciled into the schedules of all three networks. Status of "Shenandoah" is still uncertain.

"Gomer Pyle" may wind up in a Wednesday night spot, taking over the half hour now occupied by "The Dick Van Dyke Show," which will call it a day to give Van Dyke a chance to pursue his film career.

NBC's "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." may be scheduled at an earlier hour — 8:30 EST — Friday evening. Also there will probably be a sequel to it, "The Girls From U.N.C.L.E." early on Tuesday nights. And ABC's "Peyton Place" is expected to be cut back from three to two episodes a week.

After the success of NBC's "Get Smart," spoofing secret agents, there will be a comedy show on CBS spoofing "The Fugitive," a successful adventure show on ABC, and another "The Hero," kidding TV Westerns, on NBC, which has at least two very successful ones.

Of course, fate of all the can-didates depends upon whether the networks can find sponsors for them. And there are likely to be many erasures on the fall blueprints before it is in final form.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Battel

Objects to Obit
Dear Helen: You may think me a nit-picker, but you wouldn't if you knew the woman in question. She has made my wife's life Hell, not to speak of mine and our children's. I won't go into detail, except to say my wife cared for her mother for 10 years after the rest of the family washed their hands of her — and for good reason.

Now my mother-in-law is in the hospital and can't survive. I feel no pity, only relief. This brings me to my problem.

Our newspaper print this same kind of obituary that was used 100 years ago: "Mary Smith, dearly beloved mother of . . . dear sister of . . . survived by loving grandchildren . . . etc." This kind of thing gags me, even if the deceased were "dearly beloved" but when it's life and a farce, how can we possibly have it printed?

And how can we get out of it, when this is evidently an established policy of the paper, because every obit is filled with "beloved's"? — Honest

Dear Honest: You can make a formal request to the newspaper and it will probably be honored.

Or you can forget your bitterness and get on with life. The dead don't read obituaries. — H.

Militant Peach Marcher

Dear Madam: I had the severe misfortune of reading your column, in which you gave your reasons why names of our Viet Nam soldiers could not be published. I can only say you are a brainless war-monger trying to imply that anyone who does not believe in fighting would stoop to sending anti-war propaganda to our deluded boys overseas.

I am a peace marcher. I have been involved in innumerable marches, demonstrations, and acts of civil disobedience. I can say the persons who participated (even the Communists) were of highest character and sincere motivations. You, madam, should be silenced. You should keep your stupid mouth shut until you learn the Truth . . . etc., etc., etc. — Patriot and Friend

Dear P And F: Funny how the "peaceful" are always so militant. . . If you would send this kind of letter to me (including 10 anti-war and anti-government — policy pamphlets) why shouldn't I assume you'd supply like propaganda to the men overseas — provided you saw their names in the newspaper? — H.

Dear Helen: I am a good seamstress and enjoy sewing for my family and my home. My problem is that I have neighbors who come to me with their mending, alterations, etc. Now I love to sew, but not for everybody. I don't need money (my husband is a professional man) so I can't charge. If I refuse to do my neighbor's sewing, will they look on me as a snob? — Raggerty Ann.

Dear Ann: The few who impose will. Others will cheer you as a reformed easy mark. Why not start a neighborhood sewing class? You'll be spending less time, and accomplishing a lot more. — H.

Dear Helen: My mother used to always say, "See a pin and leave it lay, bad luck to you the livelong day." Even yet, I can not leave a pin lay. What should I do? — Compulsive

Dear Com: Pick it up! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Battel in care of Hope Star.

Home Games in Atlanta, Says Court Order

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A federal judge has signed a temporary injunction ordering the National League Braves to play their home games in Atlanta.

The action Thursday by Judge James Noel was another round in the complex legal fight over the team's move from Milwaukee. A hearing on a permanent injunction was set for March 21.

Judge Noel ordered the nine other clubs in the league to play the 1966 schedule as planned, including the 81-game Atlanta schedule.

Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the league will go on trial next Monday as scheduled.

A U.S. circuit court in Wisconsin refused to take part in the dispute last November and turned it back to the state. Later a Fulton County, Ga., court ordered the Braves to play in Atlanta and a judge in Wisconsin ordered the team to prepare to play in Milwaukee.

The temporary injunction was granted after Judge Noel studied the positions of Wisconsin and Milwaukee as presented in petitions and documents involved in the Wisconsin and Georgia cases. One observer said that without this background Noel could have granted only a temporary restraining order.

The dispute was taken to the Houston Federal Court by Atlanta and Fulton County Recreation Authority. It asked Noel to enjoin the other nine clubs from complying with the order that the Braves continue to play in Milwaukee.

The petition alleged Wisconsin is trying to force the Braves to stay in Milwaukee, force the National League into placing another team there, or force the Braves into bankruptcy so they can be purchased by Wisconsin interests.

Milwaukee has been the home of the team since 1953. However, club officials contend the team lost $3.6 million in the last three seasons.

The National League approved the move to Atlanta in 1964.

The Fulton County Recreation Authority built an $18-million stadium at Atlanta after signing a 25-year contract with the Braves.

Judge Noel, in remarks from the bench, said a schedule change now would cause irreparable harm to the Recreation Authority and all National League clubs.

He said extensive commitments already have been made on broadcasting, transportation and other matters.

Co-Owner of Black Hawks Succumbs

CHICAGO (AP)—James D. Norris, 59, co-owner of the Chicago Black Hawks hockey team and former head of the defunct International Boxing Club, died early today at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. Norris had been confined to the hospital for 10 days with a heart condition.

Norris had had two previous heart attacks.

A dark, well-spoken man, Norris was the president of the International Boxing Club for nine years starting with 1949. He resigned in April 1958 when the U.S. Supreme Court forced the breakup of the IBC, charging that it was a monopoly in violation of antitrust laws.

Norris, a multimillionaire, promoted numerous championship bouts, including heavy-weight titleholder Rocky Marciano's fights with Jersey Joe Walcott, Ezzard Charles, Roland LaStarza and Archie Moore.

In addition to his hockey interests, Norris owned a racing stable, was a member of the New York Stock Exchange and directly or indirectly had a large share of the Norris Grain Co., a fleet of Great Lakes freighters, the Rock Island Railroad, the Norris Cattle Co. plus the Chicago Stadium and the St. Louis Arena.

His personal holdings were valued at a quarter of a billion dollars.

As the owner of Chicago's National Hockey League club, Norris offered $1 million for Frank Mahovlich, Toronto's star left winger, four years ago. He was turned down.

By HERSCHEL NISSENSO Associated Press Sports Writer PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—

Faced with the very real threat of losing the prestigious Ivy League schools, the National Collegiate Athletic Association has resolved its battle over athletic eligibility requirements but the war is far from over.

The NCAA backed down Thursday on its demand that member schools agree to a minimum scholastic average for a time before their teams could be eligible for national championships.

Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University and head of the Ivy Group Policy Committee, said each of the eight Ivy League schools would write the NCAA a letter outlining its academic standards, well within the NCAA framework.

Everett D. Barnes of Colgate University, president of the NCAA, said this would be sufficient.

The Associated Press learned that Goheen had asked his fellow Ivy League presidents last week for agreement on a "willingness to withdraw our institution from the league if some satisfactory solution were not reached."

The dispute arose over an NCAA ruling — voted by a majority of its members — that no NCAA member could give financial aid to an athlete unless it was okayed by the group.

The agreement is a temporary one, at best, and the entire matter seems certain to come up again at the next NCAA convention in January 1967.

The Ivy League schools are Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale. Penn, Columbia, Cornell and Princeton still are in the race for the basketball championship and a berth in the NCAA tournament. The Ivy champion might have had to forego the tournament had the dispute not been resolved.

Approximately 100 members did not comply with the NCAA demand to accept the 1.6 legislation. Most of them also belong to the Eastern College Athletic Conference, whose members give no athletic scholarships but award financial assistance solely on the basis of need.

Those objecting to the 1.6 legislation did so for one of two reasons. They either felt, as the Ivy League did, that academic eligibility should rest with the individual institutions and not with the NCAA, or they thought the 1.6 minimum was too low. Many schools require a higher average for athletic participation.

Hope Cagers Could Climb to 2nd Place

By LARRY DON WRIGHT Hope Star Sports Writer

The Bobcats enter this weekend of District 4AA play with the possibility of jumping into second place in the standings with only one more conference game left on the schedule.

Tonight the Cats are at home in Jones Field House for a tussle with the Warren Lumberjacks before they hit the road Saturday for a battle with the Malvern Leopards on the opponents' home court.

Hope stands just one half of a game in front of the Lumberjacks entering the match tonight. The Bobcats are holding down third with a 8-5 record ahead of Warren who has a 7-5 mark. Behind them come Arkadelphia and Fairview with six losses apiece.

Crossett has a tight hold on first place with 11 wins and 1 loss followed by second place Smackover who holds an 8-3 record.

Another important game tonight puts Arkadelphia against Fairview in a game which should tighten things some more.

Then tomorrow Arkadelphia will get a shot at second place Smackover. If Smackover loses that game and also falls when they meet Crossett next week the Bobcats could possible wind up in a tie for second place. This is of course on the assumption that Hope can win their three remaining games.

The games tonight begin at 6:30 with the B Boys game followed immediately by the Bobcat - Warren game.

S. State in Victory Over Hendrix

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Southern State stayed with a stubborn Hendrix for the first half, then surged ahead for a 59-49 victory in the Arkansas Interscholastic Conference basketball tournament here Thursday night.

Little Rock University scored a going-away 84-68 triumph over Henderson in another quarterfinal match.

In games tonight, Arkansas State Teachers faces Arkansas Tech and John Brown University takes on Ouachita.

Southern State, the AIC regular season champion, didn't get a lead of more than one point until just before the first half ended. The Mulderiders had a 25-22 advantage then.

The Mulderiders came out strong in the second half and built a more comfortable lead. Butch Price led the Riders with 21 points, and Gene O'Daniels had 16 points for Hendrix.

LRU scored its second tournament victory against Henderson, which drew a first-round bye. The Trojans had a 32-29 halftime lead, but the Reddies came back to lead briefly, the last time at 49-48. LRU pulled away free throws in the final minutes.

The Trojan's Bob Dobson had 23 points, and Henderson's leader was Jim Peppers with 14.

LRU will meet Southern State in semifinals Saturday night, and tonight's games will determine the other surviving pair.

Wallace's Wife to Run in Alabama

By REX THOMAS MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers stood on the brink of the governor's race today, ready to challenge the hardcore segregationist philosophy of Gov. George Wallace.

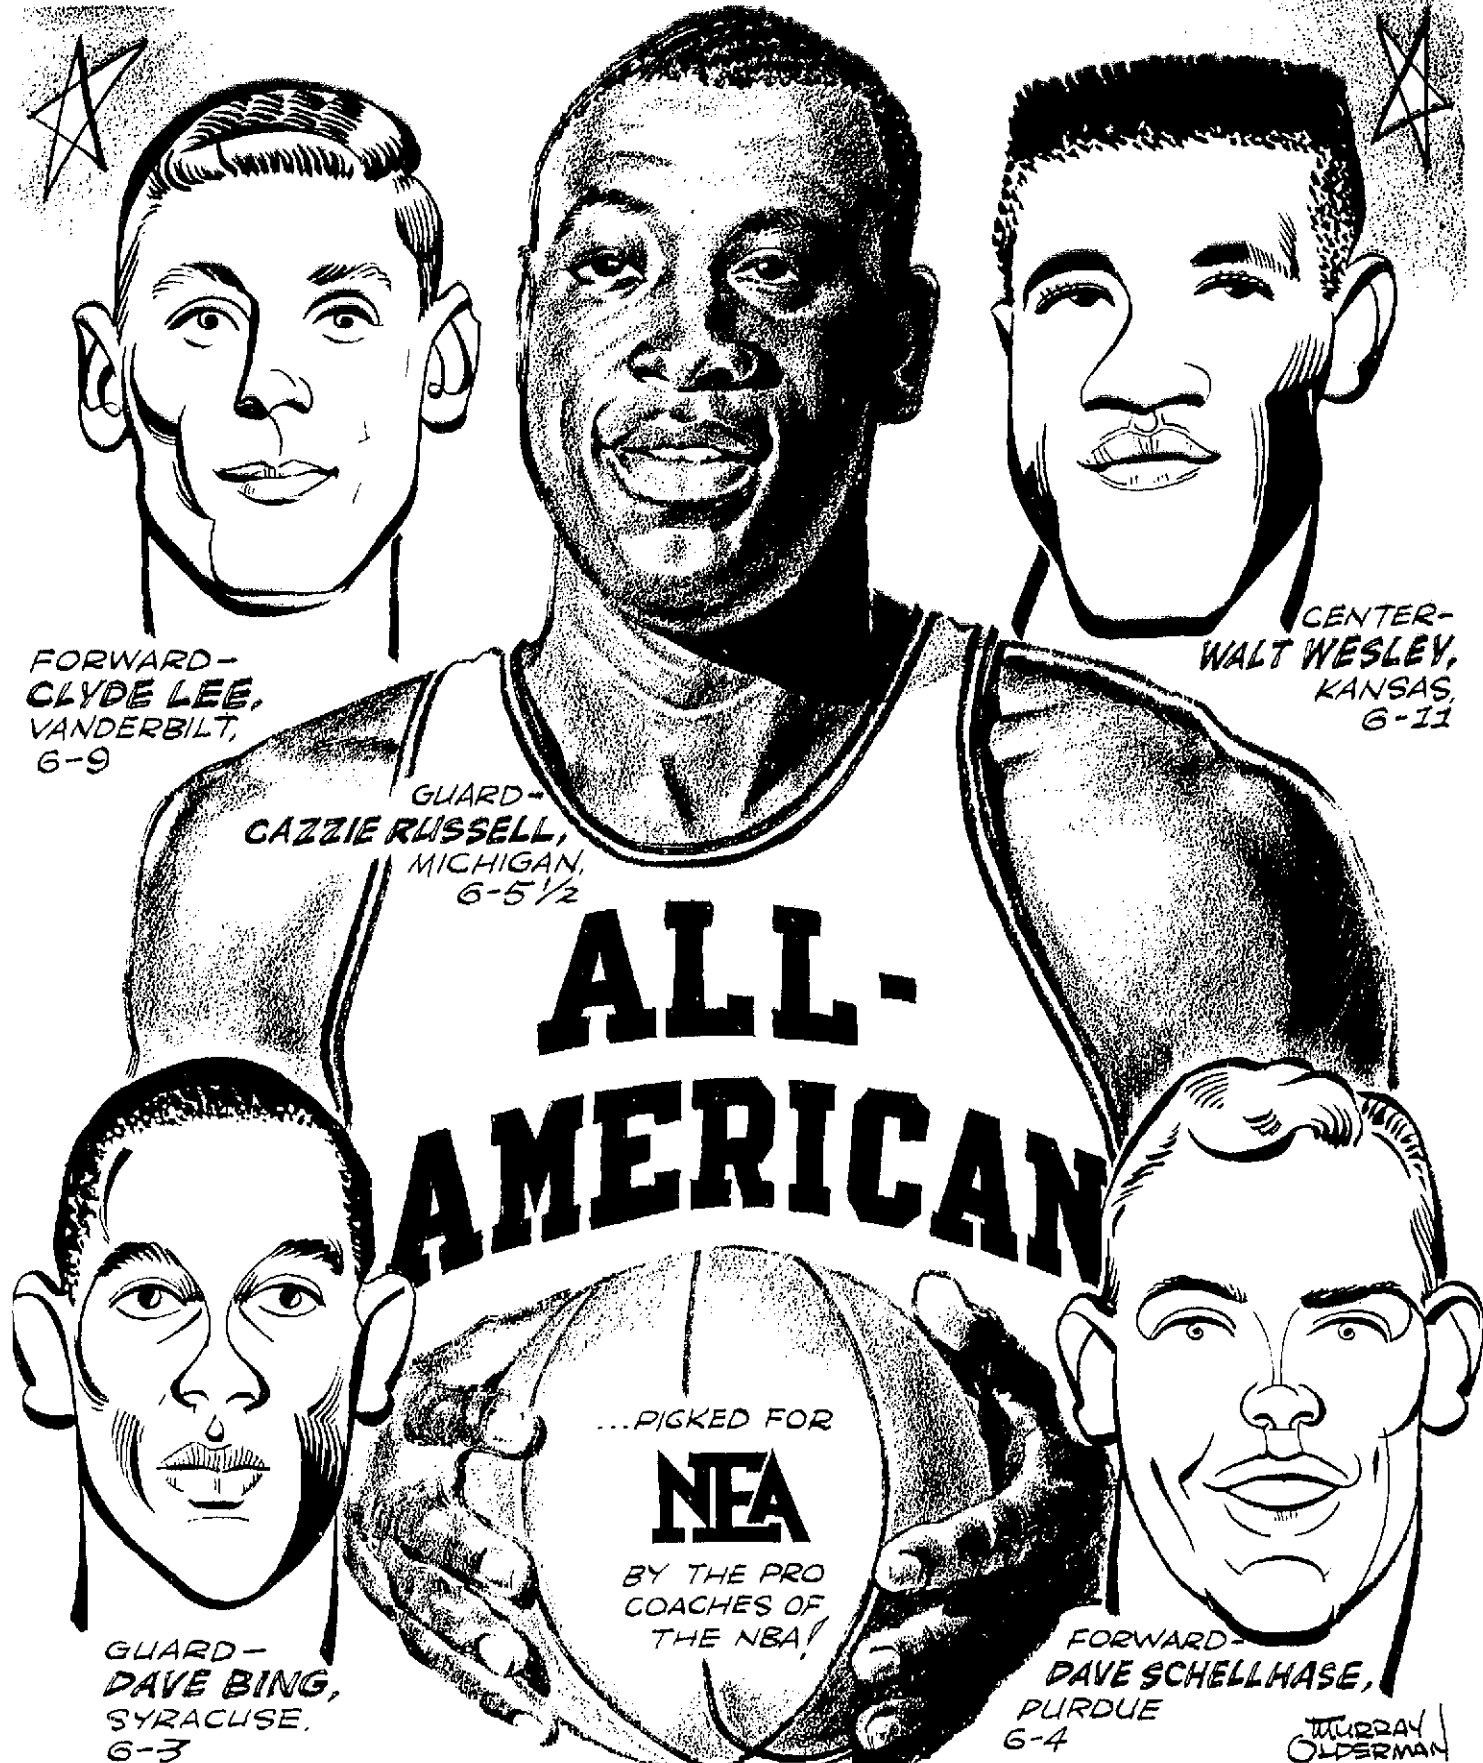

The declaration of Wallace's wife, Lurleen, as a candidate Thursday and the expected announcement that Flowers will run gave the governor and attorney general a chance to settle their long-standing feud in the May 3 Democratic primary.

Flowers, a self-styled racial moderate, has opposed Wallace's defiance of federal authority.

Another Wallace critic, State Sen. Bob Gilchrist of Hartselle, appeared likely to jump into the already crowded gubernatorial field before the qualifying deadline next Tuesday.

He was one of the senators who blocked the governor's attempt last October to change the law so he could run for reelection, and was an active campaign worker for another candidate, Ryan McGaffney, who died in a plane crash two weeks ago.

The attractive, honey blonde Mrs. Wallace, 39, became the ninth candidate in the governor's race.

Dodgers' Big Pair Wants $1 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale said, "Hey, Buz, we want a million dollars and three-year contracts," Los Angeles Dodgers Vice President E.J. (Buz) Bavasi was so good-humored, so friendly, one would think they had asked merely to borrow his car for a double date.

But he said no. For heart's balm, though, he offered the star pitchers "more money than any two players on one team ever received in the history of baseball."

And they said no. They parted, still friends. "I am not embarrassed about the money I offered them," Bavasi said Thursday after the friendly parting, "but it was nowhere near what Sandy and Don want."

"And," he added, "I must say they were not impressed. But I was."

Bavasi, embarrassed or no, would not reveal the figures. Koufax and Drysdale, friendly or no, were conspicuously unavailable for comment after negotiations deadlocked on their demand for $500,000 apiece on a three-year contract.

Bavasi said it will be up to Koufax and Drysdale to make the next move, but that move will probably not be toward the team airplane, which departs Saturday for spring training in Vero Beach, Fla., Bavasi speculated.

The next move is for them to readjust their thinking, we are so far apart," he said.

With her husband at her side, she told a cheering throng of followers crowded into the State House of Representatives chamber that she would run as a "stand-in" for Wallace.

She made it clear that if elected, her husband would run the governor's office and decide policy as he does now.

Flowers' chances in the party primary will depend in great measure on how an estimated 200,000 registered Negroes vote. He may have to compete for Negro support with another self-designated moderate candidate, former congressman Carl Elliott.

Former Gov. James E. Folsom, who barely missed the runoff four years ago when he sought a third term, is campaigning again. He, too, may win Negro votes.

Mrs. Wallace, on the other hand, will find another governor, John Patterson, going after the conservative support in a state which voted overwhelmingly for Republican Barry Goldwater in the presidential election two years ago.

Ants are the oldest city dwellers.

Camel May Give Way to Automobiles

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIBERS (AP) — The camel, historic desert cruiser, may soon give way to the automobile on the ancient caravan route time and across the Sahara, if plans go through for a superhighway which would cross the world's greatest wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt road spanning from the Mediterranean and coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

Trucks with special tires and survival equipment have been sent across the Sahara for the first time. The trip is hazardous and uneconomical for large-scale freight movement.

An asphalt highway exists from Algiers to the oilfields around Hassi Messaoud, a distance of 500 miles. Beyond that, an ill-defined track winds for 1,500 miles across the virtually uninhabited, sandblown wasteland.

Drivers have to undergo special desert training, carry compasses, snake serum and heavy equipment to dig their vehicles out of the sand. Water and gasoline are available only at outposts hundreds of miles apart.

At many points, there is no track at all, but only a trace of parallel tire marks in the sand. In some sections, progress is less than 40 miles a day.

The new highway would make a substantial contribution to the development of the Sahara region and change the habits of nomadic tribes hitherto barely touched by civilization.

Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Mali, Mauritania, Chad, Niger and the United Arab Republic hope to raise $127 million to build the road and to supply about $4.25 million a year to maintain it.

Construction would take at least 12 years. Preliminary surveys are being made by the United Nations Special Fund, which is expected to contribute to the over-all cost.

A modern trans-Sahara communications link was long the dream of French colonial administrators. They actually removed six years ago 111 pounds. Since then I have gained 40 pounds and am not so nervous. Are both of these effects a result of the operation?

A—Both effects are a natural consequence of correcting thyroid over-activity. Your goiter must have been the type known as toxic or exophthalmic.

Q—In a recent column you built two rail lines several hundred miles into the desert. The farther advanced, however, the more formidable the difficulties became. The project finally was abandoned.

It is estimated that 25,000 trucks and passenger vehicles would use the road every year. The cost of freight movements from Algiers to the Niger would be cut by more than half and the time for the trip reduced by 80 per cent.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Disease of the Pituitary Can Cause Thyroid Failure

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—After my second child was born I was tired all the time and my face was puffy. My doctor did a PBI test, but he gave me thyroid extract. Why would my thyroid suddenly stop working? If I eat foods rich in iodine will that pep up my thyroid?

A—Thyroid failure, when not caused by removal of part of the thyroid, may be the result of a disease of the pituitary, the gland that produces a thyroid-stimulating hormone, or it may be caused by an asphalt road getting too much iodine in a period of time. Iodine is used to treat a thyroid that is overactive.

No laboratory test is 100 per cent reliable. That is why it is often necessary to repeat a test and why it is always necessary to weigh the results against the other findings, which is exactly what your doctor did.

Q—When I had my goiter removed six years ago I weighed 111 pounds. Since then I have gained 40 pounds and am not so nervous. Are both of these effects a result of the operation?

Kentucky Bluegrass

Kentucky bluegrass is a native of northern Europe and the cooler parts of Asia. The Greeks knew it in the time of Socrates. In America, Kentucky bluegrass first made its appearance in Virginia with Sir Walter Raleigh.

Today's article is written solely by Jacoby, Senior. It is his tribute to an old friend, Ira Brall of New York, who died on New Year's Day.

Ira Brall was good enough in the early days of contract so that you knew you had been in battle when you finished playing against him. His good humor was unfailing and I know of no one who was better liked.

My team happened to win the 1934 Vanderbilt Cup but we were almost eliminated in an early match when Ira made a brilliant deceptive play that led to my defeat at a vulnerable slam contract. The bidding would be different today but was normal then.

I was not too happy with my contract when I looked over dummy. There were no losers outside the trump suit but there were problems there.

I won the first trick with dummy's king of diamonds and led the four of spades. Ira played the jack and everything looked perfect. I played my queen and West won with the king.

West led a second diamond to my ace. It appeared certain that West still held the nine and two small trumps but dummy held the ten and eight. I led a small trump and called for the eight from dummy. Ira produced the nine and you would have had no trouble boiling an egg on my forehead.

Ira's play of the jack of trumps was a false-card that really could not lose for him. Obviously I held at least five spades for my various bids so that his partner could not hold more than three. Unless his three included two of the top honors, the defense could only collect one trump trick if Ira played the nine while the play of the jack gave me a chance to go wrong should West hold three trumps to either the ace or the king.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Strollin' 20's," CBS' special Monday night, was a melodic memoir to "that dusky sash across Manhattan" called Harlem, almost 40 years ago.
A fine all-Negro cast spoke the words of poet Langston Hughes and sang and danced to the music of Duke Ellington.
Some of the performers — Sammy Davis Jr., George Kirby and Diahann Carroll — gently kidded the dancing, comedy and singing styles a bit. But Sidney Poitier who guided the audience on its stroll down Lenox Avenue looked back on it all with warmth and love — even the rent parties and the Charleston.
It was a delightful and unusual program put together with taste and honesty by Harry Belafonte. He also remembered to inject a poignant reminder that even in those lush pre-depression days, some Harlem men could not find work. The lament of one, effectively sung by Joe Williams, was one of the high points of the hour.
The latest national Nielsen ratings, covering the two weeks ending Feb. 6 disclosed Monday that CBS had regained a slight lead over NBC with ABC trailing NBC by a fraction.
The averages covering prime-time network shows, gave CBS a rating of 21.4, followed by NBC with 19.8 and ABC 19.5.
"Batman," ABC's new twice a week hit series that threatens to start a trend, dropped out of the elite top 10 to come in 11th and 12th. It had rated eighth and ninth positions in the previous list.
Leaders in order were: NBC's Bonanza, ABC's Bewitched, CBS, Red Skelton Hour, Gomer Pyle, The Lucy Show, Beverly Hillsbillies, Green Acres, Hogan's Heroes, Andy Griffith Show and NBC's Get Smart.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE OF SCHOOL BONDS

Hope School District No. 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas hereby gives notice that it will sell on auction bids on the date specified below its proposed issue of $150,000 Construction School Bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 4.25 per cent per annum, to be dated February 1, 1966, with interest to be payable semiannually on June 1 and December 1 of each year commencing December 1, 1966, and maturing serially on December 1 of each year as follows:

YEAR	AMOUNT
1971	$3,000
1972	5,000
1973	6,000
1974	7,000
1975	7,000
1976	8,000
1977	9,000
1978	9,000
1979	10,000
1980	11,000
1981	11,000
1982	12,000
1983	12,000
1984	13,000
1985	13,000
1986	14,000

The bonds were approved by the electors of the district at the annual school election on September 28, 1965 and at said election a one mill tax to be collected in the years 1966 through 1971 and thereafter an eight mill continuing annual building fund tax was voted for the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds until paid in full. The bonds will be general obligations of the School District secured by the District's full faith, credit and resources. They will be primarily payable from said building fund tax, but in addition, the bonds will be secured by a pledge of all revenue that the District can legally pledge including the annual surplus derived each year from the building fund taxes previously voted for bonds now outstanding.

The surplus arising each year from the District's building fund taxes, after providing for principal and interest maturing that year and the next six months' interest on all the District's outstanding bonds, may be used by the District for calling bonds for payment prior to maturity or for other school purposes.

The assessed valuation of the taxable real and personal property in the District, according to the 1965 assessment (the latest assessment of record) is $9,009,833.

The purchaser may name the trustee and paying agent. The following expenses will be paid by the District's fiscal agent, Stephens, Inc., Little Rock, Arkansas: the printing of the bonds; the trustee's fee for authenticating the bonds; and the fee of Smith, Williams, Friday & Bowen, Bond Counsel, Little Rock, Arkansas, upon whose approving opinion the bonds will be issued.

Supplemental and dual coupons will not be permitted, but the bonds may be converted to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest with a conversion to be in accordance with the Universal Bond Values Tables and upon such terms that the District receive no less and pay no more than it would receive and pay if the bonds were not converted, and the conversion shall be subject to the approval of the Board of Directors of the District and of the Commissioner of Education of the State of Arkansas.

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The second space tracking station established near Canberra by the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration was officially opened today by Supply Minister Sen. Denham Henty.

Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the Congressional Committee on Science and Astronautics, attended the ceremony.

Murder Trial in Florida Near the End

By ARTHUR EVERETT

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Candace Messer and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, reared the end of their first-degree murder trial today as the defense tried to turn a finger of suspicion toward a husky interior decorator.

The 29-year-old Fred Ray Weissel, 29, was turned up beaten and bloody in the general area about 300 ft. after Jacques Mossler was found early on June 30, 1964.

Interrogated briefly by authorities, Weissel never was treated by them as a suspect in the case. He has not testified in the trial.

A physician Thursday described Weissel as a badly beaten man with "brush burns" on his body "that could have been caused by any type of outdoor terrain."

"And they could have come from a carpet or any irregular surface," asked Powers' chief defense attorney, Percy Foreman.

"Yes," the doctor replied. "You couldn't even tell if it came from Governors' Lodge, apartment 2-C, 300 Sunrise Drive," continued Foreman.

Adding to the Key Biscayne apartment where Mossler, 69, was slain.

The physician managed to get in "no" answer as the state objected.

Mrs. Mossler, a small attractive blonde who gives her age as 40, and her strapping nephew Powers, 29, are on trial for their lives. They are accused of slaying her husband in furtherance of an illicit, unnatural love affair, with Mossler's $33-million fortune in mind. Mossler headed a chain bank and loan empire.

The Polish Press Agency said Wednesday that the publications were printed in Albania.

Spy Receives Highest Award

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's highest award, the Order of Lenin, has been presented to Col. Rudolph Abel.

The Soviet master spy who was arrested in the United States in 1957 also received a number of other high honors for his 30 years as an intelligence agent, the newspaper Trud (Labor) reported today.

It published an article by Abel in which the retired spy said he had been caught "as a result of betrayal." He did not elaborate.

Abel, 63, is now living in retirement in Moscow. After serving four years and eight months of a 30-year sentence in the United States, he was traded on Feb. 10, 1962, for American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

Committee Dissects Klan Testimony

By WILBUR MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities is on today to dissect testimony about the Ku Klux Klan in an effort to shape legislation to curb its activities.

The committee concluded five months of public hearings Thursday with 4,300 pages of testimony from 190 witnesses.

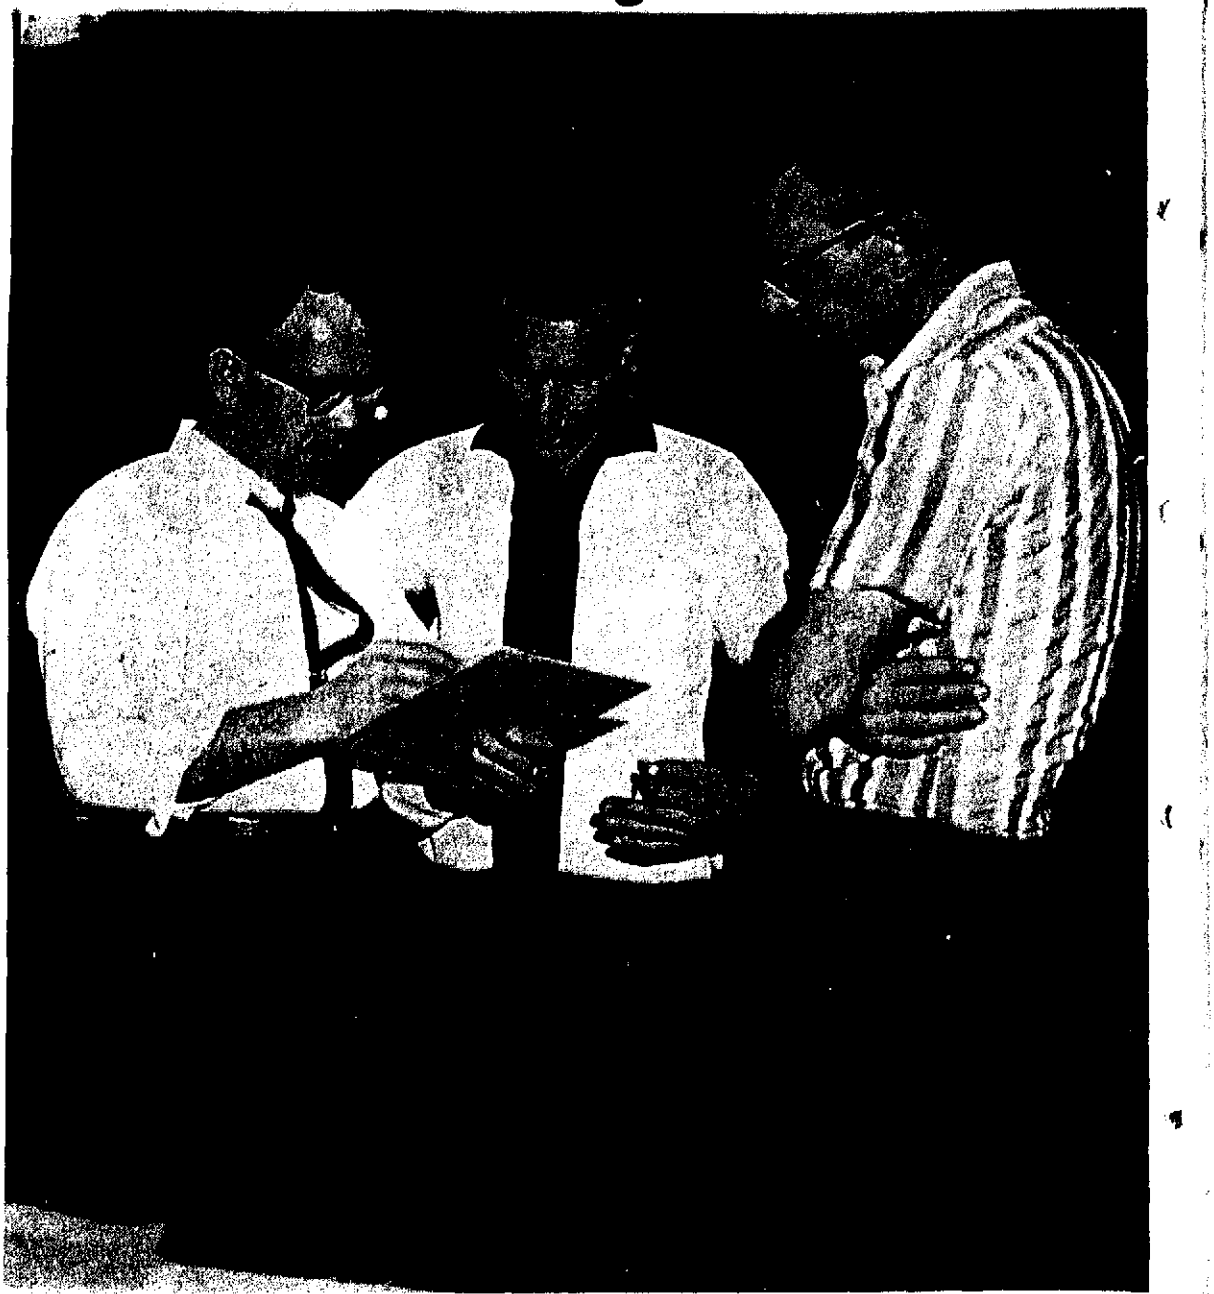

"The record is not a pretty one," said Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., in summing up the year-long investigation and the hearings.

"It is," he added, "a record of floggings, beatings, killings, or plans to assassinate public figures...for no other reason than the color of their skins or the fact they disapprove of the policies and activities of the Klan."

But, throughout the hearings, the Klan had some supporters. One was Ralph E. Pryor Jr., a former Wilmington, Del., detective and former Delaware grand dragon who defended the principles of the Klan, even though he said he was disillusioned.

"I believe the Klan has done lot of good, even today," he testified.

Other witnesses said only a "certain element" had given the

UP TO NOW THE STAR HAS BEEN reproducing local and AP Wirephoto pictures by making screened prints, pasting them in to the page "pasteup," and shooting a single big negative. But with the double-negative system the picture space in the big negative is blanked out with black paper; the picture is shot separately as a screened negative, and this negative is then pasted into the clear space or "window" created by the black paper on the page "pasteup."

THE DOUBLE-NEGATIVE SYSTEM, while more technical, produces better and more uniform results than do screened prints. A. H. WASHBURN SET UP THURSDAY night's demonstration in The Star plant with Mr. Bosley, and all three of the local men made successful screened negatives.

Shortage of Skilled Workers Seen

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A low unemployment rate and increased taxes may create a shortage of skilled employes and spending money in the first half of 1966, the Arkansas Business Bulletin reported Thursday.

The state's unemployment rate dropped to 4.1 per cent, compared to 4.6 per cent in 1964, the report said. The new taxes include the state income tax, being withheld from paychecks for the first time; and added Social Security taxes.

The report said employment rose 3.9 per cent above 1964 in non-farm jobs last year, while farm jobs decreased by 5,600.

It said industrial employment was up 4.6 per cent, average wages up 4 per cent, total manufacturing payrolls up 9.5 per cent, total construction contracts up 7.7 per cent and construction loans by savings and loan associations up 22.1 per cent.

Bids Opened on Sewer Projects

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A syndicate of four Little Rock firms and one from New York submitted the low bid Wednesday for an $8,280,000 sewer revenue bond issue of the Little Rock Sewer Commission.

Bidding an average interest rate of 4.087 per cent was the syndicate of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., of New York, and Dabbs Sullivan Co., Inc., Villalere and Co., Stephens, Inc., and T. J. Raney and Sons, and Associates.

Of the total bond issue, $4.72 million will be for an interceptor line along the Arkansas River and to expand the sewage treatment plant, and the remaining 3.56 million will be used to pay off outstanding bonds issued by the Sewer Department in 1956 and 1960.

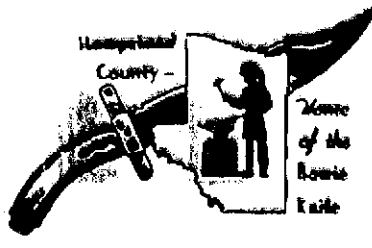

Houdini can't help you land industry

But we can. And that's why we call ourselves the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission. For that's exactly what we try to do. But even our hands are tied if your community is not industrially prepared. The whole trick lies in being ready before industry is. So take a good look around your community. Chances are, industry already is.

Race Balance Bill to Hurt Northern Area

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
A law proposed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., to curb school segregation resulting from racially imbalanced neighborhoods would hit hard at Northern cities, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Nearly every public school in Cleveland would be affected. Half of the schools in San Francisco would come under the law. In Boston, 46 of 198 schools were declared racially imbalanced under a new state law.

The bill, introduced in Congress Thursday by Powell, would withhold federal money from any school district that fails to reach a racial balance in its schools that reflects the racial makeup of the whole community.

The proposal would set up a formula requiring that the number of Negroes in any school in a district could not vary by more than 20 per cent from the number of Negro children in the entire district.

For instance, if 50 per cent of the children in a district are Negro, no school could have more than 70 per cent or less than 30 per cent Negroes.

To achieve this balance school children apparently would have to be bused outside their neighborhood — an action that seems to be used outside their neighborhood officials as among parents.

A group of white parents in New York City appealed a state ruling order to the U.S. Supreme Court, but the court refused to review it.

"In Philadelphia as in every big city the residential patterns inevitably have an effect on the school patterns," said Richardson C. Dilworth president of the Board of Education.

Dilworth said that Philadelphia, like other major cities, would be affected substantially by the bill.

Paul Briggs, Cleveland school superintendent, said Powell's proposal would affect nearly all of the city's 135 schools.

"We have been attempting to give children of all neighborhoods the best education possible," said Briggs, who said that some Negro children are being bused to other districts.

U of A Schola Cantorum to Perform Here

"One of the most beautiful choirs in the entire world," wrote the French music critic, Jean Abel, of the Schola Cantorum of the University of Arkansas following their concert at the International Festival of Music in Aix-en-Provence, France.

This concert will be presented at Hope High School Auditorium Thursday, March 3, 1966, 9:30 a.m.

The Schola Cantorum is the most expert of the five choral organizations on the campus of the University of Arkansas. It was founded in 1957 by the present director, Richard Brothers, "to give," according to Brothers, "the most talented students the opportunity to study and to perform the finest music of all styles and periods."

Brothers is a Professor on the faculty of the University Department of Music. Abel, in his review, calls him "a veritable master."

The Schola Cantorum is the only American choir ever to have won first prize in the International Polyphonic Competition held every year in Arezzo, Italy.

Upon returning to the United States, the choir was invited to appear at the White House, by the late President Kennedy and also by Senator Fulbright, of Arkansas, to present a concert in the Auditorium of the Senate Building for member of Congress, the diplomatic corps, and the public.

In addition to the numerous concerts it has sung throughout Arkansas and the United States, the Schola Cantorum has made two European concert tours and is now planning a 3rd. Concerts have been given in France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and Spain. They are the only non-professionals ever to have performed at the famous International Festival of Music in Aix-en-Provence, France, where their reception by the critics and the public was so enthusiastic that they were immediately invited to return as soon as possible.

Next summer the Schola Cantorum will return to Europe for seven weeks to accept the re-engagement to sing at the Aix-en-Provence Festival, and also to present concerts in France, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Yugoslavia and England. This will be the first time the choir will have sung in England and also their first trip to a country behind the iron curtain.

ALC to Visit Capitol at Washington

Senator Olen Hendrix of Prescott, and Representative Talbot Field, Jr., of Hope, attended the Legislative Council meeting in Little Rock last Friday, February 18, and extended an invitation to the Legislative Council to meet in the Old State House, Confederate Capitol, in Washington, Arkansas in June.

They also extended an invitation to the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee to meet in Washington at the same time the Council meets, or at some other date acceptable to the Joint Auditing Committee.

The 24 members of the Legislative Council unanimously adopted a motion to accept the invitation, and will hold its June meeting, customarily held on the third Friday of each month, at the Old State House, Confederate Capitol, in Washington, Arkansas.

In extending the invitation, Senator Hendrix and Representative Field pointed out that Governor Faubus had recently conducted the affairs of the Governor's Office from the Washington Capitol. The Legislative Joint Auditing Committee unanimously adopted a motion to accept the invitation and hold their April meeting in Washington.

The Legislative Council is a joint Ad Interim Committee of the Arkansas General Assembly consisting of 24 members, including the Speaker of the House, President Pro Tem of the Senate, and other members designated from the House and Senate. The Council is a research and fact finding arm of the legislature and is influential in preparing the biennial state budgets for the operation of the state agencies and institutions.

The Joint Auditing Committee is composed of 20 members and reviews the expenditures of all state agencies. In this capacity it serves as the watchdog on the expenditure of public funds.

War Authority Backing Asked by Johnson

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is mustering its forces to counter an attack on President Johnson's Viet Nam war authority and to deliver a vote of confidence one supporter hopes will be a clear warning to Hanoi.

With Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey doing a little lobbying in the background, the Senate moved to ward the climax of the debate. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., was set to give his argument today why Congress should rescind its 1964 resolution that gave President Johnson a blank check to carry on what Morse calls an illegal war.

Morse promised that after giving senators the weekend to think over his case he will ask Monday that his proposal be attached as a rider to the bill authorizing an additional $4.8 billion in funds for the war.

The vote on his amendment, Morse contends, will be a vote on President Johnson's policy.

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told newsmen that when Morse launches his move Monday he will introduce as a substitute for the Oregonian's his own amendment reaffirming the 1964 resolution.

"It might mean that the lives of American boys will be spared if we can get the message home to (North) Viet Nam and that we have put our hands to the plow and do not intend to turn back," the Georgia Democrat said.

Humphrey had a date today for another meeting with 200 Congress members to plug administration policy with his report on his nine-nation Asian trip.

Republicans and Democrats who heard the vice president's briefing Thursday called it impressive and persuasive.

Borg-Warner Plant Bought by Whirlpool

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Whirlpool Corp. of Benton Harbor, Mich., will take over the lease of Borg-Warner Corp's Norge Division plant here later this year, the companies said Thursday.

The plant has more than a million square feet of manufacturing space, Borg-Warner said, and Norge has not made full use of this capacity. Norge appliance production — refrigerators, freezers and room air conditioners — at Fort Smith will be transferred to other Norge plants or to other manufacturers.

There are 1,600 Norge employees here, and the two companies said they are working closely toward a smooth transition. Norge plans to remain in production through early summer. Whirlpool is acquiring machinery and equipment and expects to be in operation soon afterward.

Norge also has appliance plants in two Illinois cities, Herrin and Effingham. Whirlpool has facilities in seven cities for production of ice cube makers, coin-operated laundry equipment and bulk milk coolers for the dairy industry.

Norge moved into the plant in August of 1961, and production started two months later.

Study Monkeys to Learn of People

SEATTLE (AP) — University of Washington scientists plan to study monkeys to find out more about people.

The scientists say they will observe the monkeys through a one-way viewing glass.

Some of the things they hope to learn include the development of friendships, social status and ostracism.

This may help to explain human successes and failures in social relationships.

"We could not, nor would we wish to, control humans in this manner," said one of the scientists, Dr. Gordon Jensen, Wednesday.

One Killed in Benton Train Derailment
BENTON, Ark. (AP) — One man was killed and another hurt when a Missouri Pacific mail train derailed after coming out of a sharp curve in this central Arkansas community late Thursday night.

Some 18 passengers in a coach which was the last car of the train escaped serious injury, officials said. The coach was the only car of the train to remain upright.

Killed in the accident was M. E. Daniels of Scott, fireman, authorities said. The engineer, J. E. Lewis of Little Rock was hurt, they said, but his injuries were believed not serious.

James Anderson of the Benton city police force said four or five passengers were taken to a hospital for examination, then released.

A temporary track was built around the wreckage to clear traffic, and trucks picked up the mail carried by the train.

Missouri Pacific officials said they had not determined the cause of the derailment. The train was en route from St. Louis to Texarkana.

Pays Tribute to GIs Who Beat Enemy

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, paid high tribute today to 2,500 American infantrymen while on a personal tour of the battle-scarred jungle north of Saigon where they hurled back a fierce predawn Viet Cong assault Thursday.

Astride the hood of a jeep, the general told his men: "You gave the enemy a sound defeat and I am proud of you. Your performance was in the highest spirit and professional conduct of U.S. fighting men. I salute you."

The discovery of 46 more bodies outside the camp's barbed-wire defenses raised the toll of enemy dead to at least 135. Many more were believed to have been dragged away by the Viet Cong. Fifteen Communists were taken prisoner.

While officers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's First Brigade briefed Westmoreland on one of the heaviest attacks of the war experienced by American troops, action elsewhere in the past 24 hours tapered off.

U.S., South Vietnamese and other Allied troops reported only sporadic contact with the enemy.

A third day of heavy rains curbed air raids against North Viet Nam. The thick overcast allowed only four air strikes against roads and bridges around the coastal city of Vinh, 165 miles south of Hanoi. The 7th Fleet's jets made no sorties against the North Thursday.

SBA Makes Loan, So That's It

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Whether a proposed drive-in at Crossett is an industry doesn't really matter, a spokesman for the Small Business Administration said Thursday.

The drive-in received a federal construction loan of $78,400 and the SBA approved it.

As far as the government is concerned, the spokesman said, it makes no difference whether a concern is an industry. The loan was arranged under Act 404 of 1955. The act requires approval of a loan applications by the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, which requires the concern to be an industry.

A drive-in was not on the AIDC's list and Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett issued an opinion classifying the drive-in as an industry.

The SBA official said there are two other state laws—Act 576 of 1965 and Act 176 of 1963—under which a community development corporation may be chartered. Under either of these, the development corporation may seek an SBA loan without getting AIDC approval or having the concern classified as an industry.
